Ansaldo STS wins order worth EUR 12 million from Trenitalia

- Ansaldo STS will provide maintenance services for the on-board signalling system on 32 high-speed ETR 500 trains

Ansaldo STS (STS.MI), the lead bidder of the temporary consortium set up with Alstom Ferroviaria, has acquired a multi-year maintenance contract from Trenitalia for the on-board signalling system on 32 high-speed ETR 500 trains.

In total, the contract is worth EUR 25 million, and the portion pertaining to Ansaldo STS is EUR 12 million.

In detail, the maintenance and assistance services relate to the safety and signalling systems designed and built by Ansaldo STS in accordance with the European standard (ERTMS L2), which are fitted on the ETR 500 trains.

The assistance services will be provided on-site and remotely, taking advantage of the high technological standards that will bring benefits to Trenitalia's regular commercial service on high-speed trains.
